

TRAINING BRA

Leave it to a Newport girl to concoct this brilliant idea: bras for the newly enhanced. Lisa Morrison worked with cosmetic surgeons for years before hatching her plan for wireless bras required for post breast-augmentation that ooze sexiness. The Look No Wire website reads like a technical manual meets Playboy, with references to state-of-the-art elastics and doctor-approved support alongside cheesecake shots of women clearly not afraid to show off their new goods.
